THE 18th ANNUAL WBAI
HOLIDAY CRAFTS FAIR
STARTS DECEMBER 1st

The 18th Annual WBAI Holiday Crafts Fair

It's November - the frost is on the pumpkin, the turkey's in the oven, and the WBAI Holiday Crafts Fair is right around the corner. This year marks the 18th annual installment of the oldest and largest winter crafts marketplace in America, held in Columbia University's Ferris Booth Hall on December 1-3, 8-10 and 15-17.

Exhibitors change every week, with a total of over 350 carefully selected folk showing their wares at the end of the three week run. The Fair is open to the public each Friday from 5 to 9pm (a good time to come and avoid the crowds), and from 11am to 6pm each Saturday and Sunday. The two full floors of crafts will feature shopping items and gift ideas for everyone, whether flamboyant or practical - there will be beautiful handcrafted work for every age, taste and pocketbook/wallet.

A prevalent misconception about the field of professional crafts is that handcrafted work is, for the most part, affordable only by the well-heeled collector. While some unique pieces can be expensive, it is much more valid to say that the vast majority of handcrafted work is designed for people with modest budgets. Indeed, in often uncertain and changing economic times, most professional craftspeople work hard to offer the public a full range of work at affordable prices. For all you shoppers with limited budgets and/or confirmed bargain-hunters, there are hundreds of moderately priced handmade items available to become a treasured gift, either for yourself or a loved one - big or small.

In this era of mutant turtles and video games, a true alternative exists to the mass-produced and marketed toys and games found in most stores during the holiday season. The WBAI Holiday Crafts Fair will feature a dazzling array of individually designed and handcrafted playthings created by more than two dozen professional craftspeople from across the country. Children of all ages, from 2 to 92 just might find the most special toy of their lives at the Fair. Safe, sturdy toys and jigsaw puzzles in bright, happy colors; soft, whimsical hand and finger puppets and handmade kaleidoscopes are all being shown for the little ones. For the more "mature" kids among us, there are highly complex puzzles, exact replicas of 17th and 18th century scientific instruments, as well as exact replicas of diners in ceramic and neon.

In addition to the many thousands of handmade craft items for sale at the 18th Annual WBAI Holiday Crafts Fair, there will be assorted homemade foods, desserts and refreshments available. Live entertainment will be featured each weekend as well. Admission is $6.00 per person ($3.00 for senior citizens.) For a one-time payment of $15.00, Fairgoers can gain unlimited entry to the three different weekends - a real bargain! All proceeds go to benefit listener-sponsored, non-commercial radio station WBAI-FM, a leading alternative voice in New York for almost 30 years. So come to the Fair - it's a truly wonderful experience. For more information, please call WBAI weekdays from 10am to 5:30pm at either (212) 279-0707 or (212) 695-4465.

REPORT TO THE LISTENER

by Rosemarie Reed

Here it is, folks - our new budget for FY-90. Thanks to you this year we brought in $90,000 more in listener support than originally budgeted. Of course our expenses were high as well, but we have been able to keep on, encouraged by your show of confidence. We hope you will continue to support us and keep listening for the many changes and improved programming in the coming months.

Thanks again for being with us, and we hope to continue serving you as we approach our 30th anniversary. Oh yes... we are looking for people who would like to work with us on designing our logos, station premiums and other such things for the anniversary. If you are an artist or designer, please call me during station business hours (10am-5:30pm) at (212) 279-0707 for additional information.
